Beating the COVID-19 Education Disruption: Answering YOUR Questions

LIVE WEBCAST TODAY • 12:00-1:00PM

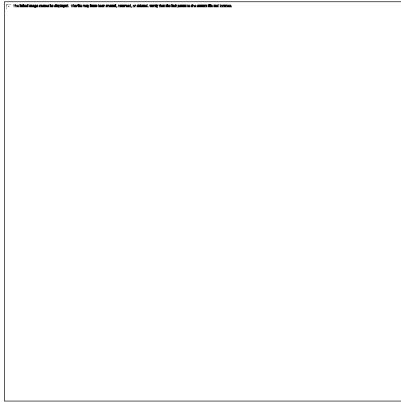

LIVE WEBCAST

For millions of Americans, this is likely the second week of educating children at home, maybe via online instruction provided by brick-and-mortar schools, perhaps by running instruction on their own. No doubt many people have experienced difficulties and frustrations with this. To help, we have assembled a panel of homeschooling and education policy experts to provide advice informed by research and years of experience and to answer whatever questions YOU may have.

Submit questions on Twitter using #CatoCEF, and start doing so as soon as you read this invitation! Or you can submit your questions during the event using Twitter, Facebook, or the comment feature on the event webpage.

Featuring

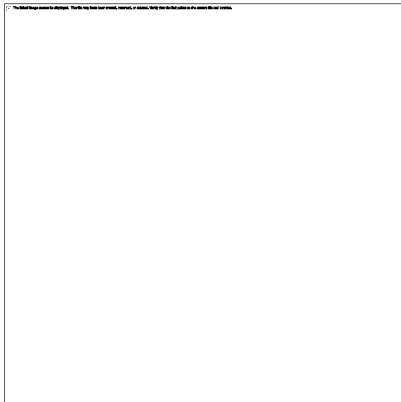

Kerry McDonald

Adjunct scholar, Cato Institute, and author of Unschooling: Raising Curious, Well-Educated Children Outside the Conventional Classroom

Jessica Koehler

"Beyond School Walls" columnist for Psychology Today and founder, Koehler Academy

Brian Ray

President and Founder, National Home Education Research Institute

moderated by

Neal McCluskey

Director, Center for Educational Freedom, Cato Institute

Join us for a live webcast today at 12:00PM EDT.

We are taking questions now on Twitter using #CatoCEF. Or you can submit your questions during the event using Twitter, Facebook, or the comment feature on the event webpage.
