HYDROCARBON PLANS BY STATES

The following states are considering Rule 66 type legislation:

California (some sections)
Illinois
New Jersey (probably, not yet public)
North Carolina
Ohio
Oklahoma
Pennsylvania (Philadelphia only)
Virginia

The following states do not feel they have a hydro-carbon problem and do not intend to control emissions from stationary sources:

Delaware
Maine
Massachusetts (EPA may require controls for Boston area)
Missouri
New Hampshire
Pennsylvania (except Philadelphia area)
Washington D.C.

No information is presently available for the rest of the states.
