	Notes & Comments (include discrepancies from database values): Temporarily Abandoned (TA) DANGER sign: H2S May be Present...Authorized Personnel Only...Hazardous Operations...Keep Out...
	This injection well has been inactive since 9/20/21, Tubing Gauge: 500 psi temporarily abandoned. The reading of the tubing Production Gauge: 0 psi gauge shows 500 psi, pressure retained after the Surface Gauge: 0 psi well was shut down on the above date. This well Flow Line Gauge: 0 psi passed a mechanical integrity test on 3/09/23.
