Dear Friends:

Today marks six months since our last lost time accident at the plant, and in our recognition program we say you have won the Works Manager's Award.

Actually you have won something much more tangible than a few words of appreciation from the boss. You have achieved for yourselves and your families a period free from the worry, pain, financial loss and sometimes heartbreak caused by serious injury. As a group you have reversed the trend which has caused all of us a great deal of concern, and this is a real accomplishment.

This past year has been a very trying one in many different ways. Many of you have worked long hours, been called out in the middle of the night, and had your days off interrupted to take care of breakdowns at the plant. But a great deal has been accomplished; we have three brand new units in successful operation, and I know you are proud of this, as I am. This makes your safety record even more significant, and I sincerely appreciate your efforts this past year.

Yet, you and I know this is only the first hurdle in a long road back so let's really get serious about safety. It will pay off in the long run.

One more point and I will sign off. Let's make the coming holiday season a truly happy one by thinking safety off the job as well as on.

Sincerely yours,

A. T. Rastzsch
Works Manager
