

Eaton will soon begin offering automotive OEMs a fully assembled cylinder head (top left) that reduces engine assembly steps and improves overall efficiency in engine plants. As it increases its offerings to customers, Eaton is moving from supplying valve train components and sub-systems to supplying air manage[illegible]