other procedures that could be used.

Are these, again, all concepts concerning dust suppression?

A Yes. Basically, we are going to this high efficiency vacuum cleaner to try to collect the dust.

We are also trying to -- after that is done, to use at least some wetting for whatever residual dust might be there.

Q I think we are done with that document.

This is page 2. Who was Dr. Wright?

A George Wright was past medical director of Johns-Manville. At that time he was, I think, retired and was consulting.

Q And did he make any comments about the responsibility of manufacturers concerning their products?

A Well, it says what it says. I tried to capture Dr. Wright's discussion.

I guess I wrote the minutes of the meeting, so this is what I wrote in 1974 or '5.

Q You were the individual that actually wrote
