

the rehearsal will take place daily, continuing up to the night of the performance. It has been found necessary to change the dates of the entertainment, setting the production just one week ahead, on May 25, 26 and 27. The stunts has been associated and ordered, and it is the belief that they will be in a measure and the same manner as seen at any of the past benefits of a lodge. One of the features of the entertainment which is being counted for great popularity is the ballet composed of San Diego young ladies under the direction of Mrs. Ada Lucaninner. This is developing finely.

The student of the art of singing who is by nature endowed by a beautiful voice should take the lesson home to the very beginning, that the voice organ, while it may be admitted and its action looked upon as fortunate, must always be watched, there must be brains used in its management, and must have been trained to give extension to the emotion of the soul, before it will have that almost indestructible strain over the fastness of those who seem to really artistic singing. This was to every be acknowledged, it is in it, it is the utterance of recognition, the motions beautifully uttered. There has been a more noble natural voice than Mrs. Katherine Bloodgood-Kipp's an example, yet it is so cold and unemotional in its expression that the ear is not touched as he is by many other voices, whose possessors have tried how to make the heart utter its feelings that stir it and send its true message to other minds and ears. But in order to be able to do so, the singer must work, work, work, as voice is to be played upon as an instrument, but a brain and a heart, with something to say and an emotion to convey, must be with the voice or we are certain to listen complacently and believe as a rare, God-given attribute a piece that lacks the power to touch, and we may also wonder what a warm nature would have done with it. — Los Angeles Herald.

By securing the Bellingers the Y. M. C. A. have offered the people of San Diego a rare and artistic entertainment, to be given at the M. E. church at Tuesday night. A leading newspaper has this item: "Those who miss the Imperial Band Bell Ringers at the Lyceum last night failed to hear a musical treat of the season, and by the most enjoyable number of the year of 1903. Marvelous musicianship, marvellously sweet melody production and the large audience chant, for two weeks. Encore followed encore, until a programme of ten numbers was reduced to nineteen, and yet the audience was not satisfied."

Because of the notable success of George in "Pretty Peggy" in New York the management has been extended to the full length of the season at the Herald Square theatre. Miss George will not return to the road until next September and all out-of-town bookings have been cancelled.

There is always a large demand for photographs of prominent actresses and actors. Anna Gould, Lillian Russell, Blanche Brown and Julia Marlowe, are always in request. It appears now that Lawrence O'Grady, who is securing "The Girl of the Year," is asked by his several offers that any stage actress on the Pacific today. He gets an average of twenty-five or thirty requests each day, and all the letters are being answered. There were his usual reply, "I don't like a good natured man, but usually he sends the pictures, through his secretary, and sometimes even the actresses, although the first picture is to be given when he possibly can. Besides, the secretary of each has to send the pictures, and so manager. Porter says he cannot allow Hearlitz Crossman to play in his theatre. The citizens of Los Angeles are now circulating a petition to the mayor, which has already been signed by 1,000 persons, asking him to banish the performers further question to banish the local theatre, and to give it a fair play.

Ray Templeton, it is said, is writing a comedy drama for Aubrey Doucett, and it is also moved that Mr. Doucett is writing a musical comedy for Miss Templeton.

Lulu Glaser never uses cosmetics. "Even in my stage makeup," she says, "I use as little as possible of any preparation of any kind. Beyond the shading of the eyes, which is necessary for any actor or actress, I do not make up at all. A good ride on horseback or an automobile drive will give actresses all the color they could want on their cheeks."

E. M. Orrick, molder, now retired, residence 11 Sacramento street, says: "I have been attacked at work and other occupations due to kidney trouble that I had that complaint for years, but what to do to check the attacks when they occurred or even disposed of them for the time being let alone cure them was a mystery. It struck me while reading an advertisement about Doan's Kidney Pills that if they performed half what they promised they might at least do a little good, and when suffering from an attack I went to the Southwestern-Mayer Drug Co. for a box. I continued the treatment until I considered that I no longer required it. I am only too pleased to recommend the means employed to get relief."
