hourglass method.

THE COURT: The hourglass is very, very big at the top and no opening at the bottom.

MR. SHELLENBERGER: I think when you turn your head, Judge, he turns it over again.

THE COURT: Is that what his trick is?

MR. McGOWAN: When he was asking questions, Judge, I saw the clock go backwards.

(Whereupon, laughter ensued.)

(Whereupon, discussion off the record.)

THE COURT: How much longer do you anticipate with Dr. Millette?

MR. WILLIAMS: Probably 20 or 30 minutes.

THE COURT: Okay. Closer to 15, right?

MR. WILLIAMS: I will do my best.

MR. IGNATOWSKI: Your Honor, while we are on the record, I discussed this with Mr. McGowan and Ms. Tostanoski.

Yesterday I referred to two X-rays of Mr. Vandergucht, VA 29-D and 29-E, as being in September of 1980. They should be September of 1981, and we
