AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE ASSOCIATION

Incorporated 1936 under the General-Not-For-Profit
Corporation Act of Illinois

INTRODUCTION

This booklet contains information on the formation, objectives, activities, organization, membership, and insignia of the American Industrial Hygiene Association.

FORMATION

The American Industrial Hygiene Association was established in 1939 by leading industrial hygienists as a result of need for an association devoted exclusively to industrial hygiene.

OBJECTIVES

The objectives of the Association as stated in the Articles of Incorporation are:

1. To increase the knowledge of industrial hygiene through interchange and dissemination of information.
2. To promote the study and control of environmental factors affecting the health and well-being of industrial workers.
3. To correlate such activities as are conducted by individuals and agencies throughout industrial, educational and governmental groups.
4. To bring together persons interested in the various phases of industrial hygiene.

ACTIVITIES

Some of the activities in carrying out these objectives are:

- (1) Representation of industrial hygienists:—The Association speaks or acts for industrial hygienists in matters of general interest as:
 - (a) Dissemination of information on the fundamentals of industrial hygiene.
 - (b) Definition of the scope of industrial hygiene.
 - (c) Development of nomenclature in industrial hygiene.

- (d) Improvement of the education, training, and status of industrial hygienists.
 - (e) Solutions of problems of industrial hygiene in national and other emergencies, in part by encouraging the optimum use of available industrial hygienists and the training of new ones.
 - (f) Cooperation with various organizations as the American Standards Association and governmental agencies in the preparation of various codes and approval schedules.
 - (g) Presentation of awards to members of the Association for outstanding service in the field of industrial hygiene.
- (2) Meeting: One meeting per year is held by the Association, and most of the Local Sections of the Association hold several meetings per year.

The knowledge of industrial hygiene is increased by the information presented in the carefully selected scientific talks on new discoveries and developments. Information is disseminated not only by these talks, but also by less formal discussions among individuals and groups, and by scientific and commercial exhibits of high quality.

The information disseminated and acquired at these meetings unquestionably encourages the study and control of environmental factors affecting the health and well-being of industrial workers, and aids in correlating the activities of various individuals and agencies.

A list of the annual meetings of the Association follows. These have been joint meetings with the American Association of Industrial Physicians and Surgeons and, in some instances, with other organizations as well. The American Conference of Governmental Industrial Hygienists (known as the National Conference until 1947) joined the group in 1943 for its 6th annual meeting; the American Association of Industrial Nurses in 1944 for its 2nd annual meeting; and the American Association of Industrial Dentists in 1946 for its 3rd annual meeting. This practice of holding joint meetings has the advantage of providing opportunities for personal contacts and exchanges of information in closely related fields. The increase in the number of the cooperating associations is evidence of an increase in the popularity and recognition of the value of this practice. The number in attendance does not restrict appreciably the possible meeting places.

MEETINGS

Some of the meetings of the Local Sections are held jointly with local sections of other associations, such as the American Society of Safety Engineers and the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Information on the annual meetings of the Association, and on many of the meetings of the Local Sections, is given in our publication, the American Industrial Hygiene Association JOURNAL.

In 1950 the A.I.H.A. affiliated with the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Several interim meetings of A.I.H.A. have been held during the annual meeting of the latter society in December. A joint session of A.I.H.A. with the American Society of Safety Engineers is customarily held during the National Safety Congress each Fall.

Meetings of the Board of Directors of the Association are held twice a year. Information on these meetings and other subjects is disseminated to members by frequent newsletters prepared by the Executive Secretary.

(3) Publications:

(a) The AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE ASSOCIATION JOURNAL is the official publication of the Association. This publication, which began a separate existence with the June 1946 issue, numbered Volume 7, Number 2, and called at that time the AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE ASSOCIATION QUARTERLY, is an outgrowth of the Industrial Hygiene Section of INDUSTRIAL MEDICINE. Original articles of general interest in the field of industrial hygiene and news of the Association and Local Sections are published in the JOURNAL, which is issued under the guidance of the Editorial Committee of this Association. Members receive this publication as one of their benefits of membership. Of their $10.00 dues, $8.50 goes to pay for their subscription. Subscription rate for non-members is $7.50.

(b) HYGIENIC GUIDES: Series of bulletins containing pertinent information required for hazard evaluation. Subjects cover all of the common industrial chemicals and materials, including new chemicals introduced to the industrial markets.

(c) INDUSTRIAL NOISE MANUAL - the first of a series of technical manuals, written by the Noise Committee, is a reference volume of ten chapters. It is priced at $7.50 to non-members, $4.50 to members of the Association.

Information on the duties of officers and committees, election of officers, and terms of officers is given in the Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws.

The financial records show that as of April 1, 1958 the Association had a bank balance of $3,552.08, and investments of $4,464 in U.S. Savings Bonds Series F and G, along with a savings account of $8,000.

The table on pages 9 to 14 contains information on Local Sections.

MEMBERSHIP

As stated in the Bylaws in Article II, Section 2a: "The Board of Directors may elect to membership in the Association reputable persons who have been engaged in some form of industrial hygiene activity for at least three years and have been graduated from an accredited school of college grade or have had equivalent training. Graduate study may be accepted in place of part or all of the required period of industrial hygiene activity."

The Board of Directors defines industrial hygiene as the professional application of any specialty toward the maintenance of industrial health or toward the study of the nature and causes of occupational disease or other problem of industrial health. Atmospheric pollution involving potentially hazardous materials of industrial origin is a closely related problem and accordingly is considered by the Board to be a phase of industrial hygiene.

On October 1, 1951 there was adopted a new membership application blank which explains in some detail the present interpretation of the membership requirements quoted above. A copy of this blank is available upon request from the Executive Secretary.

Any person having a professional interest in industrial hygiene may become an associate member of a local section, entitled to all the privileges of membership in the section except the right to become president or enjoy the privileges of the national Association. Application for Associate membership in a local section should be made in writing, including the names of two members or associate members of that local section.

Table 1 shows the growth of the membership and the geographic distribution of the present members.

By an amendment adopted June 25, 1955, the membership was broadened to include Industrial Associates. Any organization may apply for this status and must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Directors. The dues shall be $50.00 per year.

This Amendment (No. 6) also provided for Honorary Membership. Persons particularly distinguished in the general field of industrial hygiene or in a closely related scientific field may be bestowed with this type of membership by the election of the Board of Directors.

Section 2b of this amendment provided that the Board of Directors may recognize as Contributing Members such persons as currently enjoy full membership status. No privilege or professional distinction is to be assigned to this class other than those enjoyed by regular members.

INSIGNIA

The insignia or emblem of the Association is shown on the front cover of this book. This design, submitted by Oliver G. Stam, was selected by the Board of Directors at the Annual Meeting in 1943 from designs submitted by various members.

The design essentially is a composite illustration of various (actual or symbolic) equipment used in such aspects of industrial hygiene as medical, chemical and engineering. The X-ray tube symbolizes medicine and physics; the retort, chemistry; and the blower, engineering.

Emblems in the form of gold-filled pins, lapel buttons and watch charms may be obtained from the Executive Secretary at the cost of $3.90 for the pins and buttons and $5.15 for the charms, postpaid in the U.S. and inclusive of Federal tax, as long as the present supply lasts.
