

23—Sources of Help

Association (Manager), 46 St Louis St, Quebec
The Quebec Public Utilities Safety Association (Manager), 600 Dorchester St, W, Montreal
The Quebec Pulp and Paper Safety Association, Inc (President, Secretary-Treasurer), 65 Ste Anne St, Quebec
Western Quebec Mines Accident Prevention Association, 46 St Louis Street, Quebec
Saskatchewan
Miller's Accident Prevention Association, Flour Mill, Saskatchewan
Motor Transport Accident Prevention Society, 6 Victoria Park Bldg, Regina

In addition to the foregoing groups, there is also the Canadian Industrial Safety Conference, with officers elected annually. The organization operates in a manner not dissimilar to that of the Industrial Conference conducted in the United States under the auspices of the National Safety Council. Further information may be obtained from the President, 550 Burrard Street, Vancouver, B C

International Safety Organizations

Inter-American Safety Council
(Consejo Interamericano de Seguridad)
33 Park Place, Englewood, N J 07631

The Inter-American Safety Council was founded and incorporated in 1938, as a non-commercial, nonpolitical, and nonprofit educational association for the prevention of accidents. It is the Spanish and Portuguese language counterpart of the National Safety Council.

The Council is the first and only association of its kind rendering services to all industries and agencies in the Latin American countries and Spain. The objectives are to prevent accidents—to reduce the number and severity of accidents in every activity, both on the job and off the job. The services which the Council provides for its members are paid by membership dues and sales of the Council's monthly publications and other educational materials. All of its work is done from the headquarters in New Jersey.

Membership is open to all industries, organizations, institutions, or other groups with two or more employees, interested in accident prevention in Latin America and Spain. More than 1800 plants or work locations in 22 countries are members or are using the materials and services of the Council. In addition, over 300 universities, technical schools, public libraries, and the like, receive the monthly publications free of charge.

Among the services available to members are monthly publications, annual contest, special awards, consultation, statistical service, reproduction and translation rights and participation in the election of Council officers. In addition, the Council acts as a clearing house of accident prevention materials available in the United States. A catalog is available from the organization.

The Council's monthly publications include two magazines and safety posters.

Noticias de Seguridad (Safety News)

El Supervisor (The Supervisor)

Safety posters in sizes 8½ by 11 and 17 by 22 inches

In addition, the Council publishes translations of publications, films, safety slides, training programs and other materials of the National Safety Council and other accident prevention organizations.

Among the materials available in Spanish are

Training Courses.

"S-T-E-P Program" (programmed instruction)

"Defensive Driving," an eight-film series

"Safety and the Foreman," a four-film series, also available in Portuguese

"Psychology of Safety in Supervision," a six-lesson program

Training materials.

Films—more than 40 films are available in Spanish and Portuguese

Safety slides—series of 30–35 mm color slides

Supervisory pamphlets

Booklets

Posters

"Five-Minute Safety Talks"

Conversation topics

Minguias (pocket-size guides)