MEMORANDUM

TO: David S. McCrea, Charles McCrea and Paul Merrell

FROM: Stuart "The Gopher" Curry and Kate "The Great" Smith

SUBJECT: BAKER v. WESTINGHOUSE
United States District Court
Southern District of Indiana
Indianapolis Division
Civil No. IP 90-2036C

DATE: July 1, 1993

THE MOTHER OF ALL PICNICS

1. All former Circle "W" workers and customers are invited to a big Fourth of July fish fry. 60,000 smoked micro-fish will be cooked and served. There will be fireworks. The micro-fish were caught in 1987 by Jeffrey J. Bair, who also worked for the owner of the pond, Circle "W". Mr. Bair and his boss judged that the micro-fish were perfect candidates for the smokehouse. The micro-fish had real smoking potential!!! However, after weighing the 60,000 micro-fish, Mr. Bair and his boss discovered they had criminal and civil liability. They had exceeded their bag limit, even though the micro-fish came from Circle "W"'s private pond. Mr. Bair and Circle "W" decided to remove the micro-fish from the smokehouse and place them permanently in the deep freezer to avoid discovery, penalties, fines, and the loss of Mr. Bair's fishing license.

One day, after being invited into Circle "W"'s kitchen, individuals smelled something dubious and discovered the frozen, smoked micro-fish. Someone in the kitchen had left the freezer door open.

The individuals got the smoked micro-fish and shared the catch with others. Picnics were planned by everyone who got the smoked micro-fish.

The heads of the smoked micro-fish will be served to Circle W on a platter, garnished with condiments of every type and description. While everyone will surely remember the smoked taste, Mr. Bair and Circle "W", who handled the micro-fish for years may become nauseous from overexposure.

Larry "The Judge" McKinney will also be on hand for the event to hand down the long overdue, but certainly much deserved, award of merit in the tradition of Paul Wright to Jeffrey J. Bair and Circle "W" for the prize catch of smoked micro-fish.
