Canadian Departments, Associations, and Boards

In all provinces of Canada there is a Workmen's Compensation Board or Commission Some of these handle accident prevention directly In other provinces there are provisions similar to Section 110 of the Quebec Workmen's Compensation Act, which stipulates "that industries included in any of the classes under Schedule I may form themselves into an Association for accident prevention and formulate rules for that purpose Further, the Workmen's Compensation Commission, if satisfied that an Association so formed sufficiently represents the employers in the industries included in the class, may
