Subject: Re: QFR's

I just spilled water on the laptop. I think that's also gremlin problematic.

For the record, the QFRs are like gremlins. Every time I turn the page, the subparts seem to multiply.

Hi All,

I had a call with Senate EPW this morning and protocol will be them emailing you directly (CCing us of course) your final QFR's. The due date for Senate offices to submit to EPW is a hard deadline of 4:30pm today, and you should receive them no later than 6pm this evening to begin working on them. Please remember we will need completed drafts by no later than noon Monday.

Just wanted everyone to have a clear timeline for the day.

Thanks and please let me know if you have any questions.
