College of Medicine,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dear Doctor Kehoe:

On June 2, 1933, [REDACTED] one of our service station
salesmen (located at New Lexington, Ohio) died in Grant Hospital in Columbus, Ohio, from an undetermined cause, but temporarily diagnosed as sleeping sickness and inflammation of the brain.

This employee had been in our service since December 11, 1929 and was taken suddenly ill May 30, 1933, which date he was taken to the Grant Hospital by the attending physician. Inasmuch as a report has reached us to the effect that the relatives of this employee contemplate action against the company on grounds of lead poisoning, which has been supported by Dr. Warren, the attending physician, Columbus, Ohio, we are referring all facts in the case to you for your information.

Attached you will find a copy of the death certificate, together with a letter from our Zanesville Division Manager which are self-explanatory. At this writing we do not have any data pertaining to the post mortem examination but will be glad to advise you fully of any further developments.

Very truly yours,

I. S. Payton

[REDACTED]
New Lexington, Ohio

Dear Sir:

Further to our letter of June 3, under the above subject, we attach hereto newspaper clipping taken from the Zanesville Signal issue of Saturday, June 3rd, regarding [REDACTED] death. We also attach hereto certified copy of the death certificate which we have just received from the Fisher Service Company of Columbus, Ohio, undertakers who took care of the embalming.

You will notice on the medical certificate of death side that Enciphalitis is shown as the principal cause of death, but below this in Parenthesis they show "Cause undetermined, analysis being made". Under clause 23 you will note they have shown this death due to an accident, further showing that it may be a case of lead poisoning. Under clause 24 they show that there is a possibility of lead poisoning.

It came to us through a round-about way when we were securing the proof of death forms regarding this death, last Friday, in the form of a rumor that Emerson Wagner, a brother who is at the present time City Solicitor in the city of New Lexington, was the instigator of an investigation to determine whether or not this death was due to lead poisoning. It seems that there has been two deaths of other filling station attendants in New Lexington, during the past winter, which various people have made the statement were due to lead poisoning.

We put this up to [REDACTED] in talking to him last Friday in an indirect manner, trying to have him definitely say to us whether he was of the opinion that a lead poisoning could have caused this death, but he would not make any mention of the fact at that time, so naturally it was carried as only a rumor. To be definitely sure of our position we requested him to get us a certified copy of the death certificate at that time, which we have just received this morning from the Fisher Service Company of Columbus, Ohio.

Nothing definite has been obtained from this analysis matter to date that we have heard from, but we will follow this matter very closely in case [REDACTED] should decide to bring action against the Standard Oil Company, either directly or indirectly, regarding this point. If there is anything further you wish us to advise you on regarding this, please let us know and we will attempt to do so at once.

In this connection, Mrs. [REDACTED] the widow, has not as yet decided how she wants to receive the insurance money and for that reason we are unable to advise you regarding that point as yet. We will keep you informed of any further developments.

Yours very truly,

R. P. ERWIN
