family.

In fact, Roosevelt, who was reared by his mother after his father died, was more of a Delano than he was a Roosevelt, Delano declared.

He had the same restlessness, was fundamentally centered on Christ's teachings—helping others in need of help.

As a result, the Delanos were loud and violent in their condemnation of vested interests and of "economic royalists" and hard at work at the business "of making this world a better place in which to live," Delano declared.

The Delanos have always been controversial figures, he declared. People have either been 100 per cent for them or 100 per cent against them.

But it is their opponents that have made them great—in his opinion.

"The Delanos have been called everything and have had varying rewards," he said proudly. "From being hung from the cot-

ROYAL PAINT STORE

418 Willow Road

8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.
Thurs. Evenings till 9:00
Sundays 10 till 2:00

DA 3-8175

Not guilty plea made by EPA machinist

Gilbert Borbon, 38-year-old East Palo Alto machinist, has pleaded not guilty to five counts of statutory rape involving his 15-year-old stepdaughter.

Judge Murray Draper of San Mateo County set Borbon's trial for June 25.

Borbon was arrested on May 4 by sheriff's deputies who claimed that he is the father of his stepdaughter's two young children. Borbon has two children by the girl's mother.

"the home of casual living"

Palo Alto Times May 24, 1951 P9

