NOT COME FROM PPG FILES

Dear Mr. Hayes:

Since my resignation from the Saranac Laboratory and the Trudeau organization in July 1953, after twenty years of association with these activities, I thought that you would like to know of my new address.

On March 1, 1954, I will become Professor and Director of the Department of Occupational Medicine and Hygiene at the College of Medicine, Wayne University, Detroit. The environment there offers unusual opportunities for continued experimental and clinical studies pertaining to the health of workers in industry. In addition to the various occupational diseases which will engage the Department, it will have a major interest in problems concerning the inhalation of air pollutants and their effect upon the respiratory system. The University has also granted me the privilege for consulting practice.

It will be good being so near to you. It is my sincere hope, Mr. Hayes, that the new Department of Wayne University will have every opportunity to be of service to you with problems which you may care to bring to it.

Incidentally, I am at home finishing various reports and papers including the Seventh Saranac Symposium which is now ready for the publisher.

Cordially,
