MEDICAL DIRECTOR

January 25, 1933.

Dr. C.-E. A. Winslow,
Yale Medical School,
New Haven, Conn.

Dear Dr. Winslow:

Attached is copy of recommendations of the Special Committee, appointed by President Banash, January 23rd, at the meeting held at the Hotel Pennsylvania, at 4 P.M., in regard to the matter of research.

Please return to me with your comments or suggestions. This is substantially as decided upon, with a few alterations in diction by myself.

Very truly yours,

If it is decided that the National Safety Council sponsor, direct or conduct any scientific research, this form of endeavor can only be undertaken in accordance with the following regulations.

I. Any project for research must first be favorably passed upon by the particular Vice President concerned and his Advisory Committee, after consultation with other organizations or individuals properly interested.

- a) If a research project is to be undertaken, a Special Research Committee shall in each instance be appointed by the President, composed of individuals selected because of special technical or scientific knowledge. All members of this Committee need not of necessity be members of the National Safety Council.
- b) This Committee shall be responsible to the Council for the adequacy of any projected research program and shall submit ^{its report} to the Council, on its completion, ^{with} a recommendation as to its disposal.

II. The Council shall have the right to publish all, or part, or none of the results of any investigation or study.

- a) If the Council decides to publish the results of any research which it has sponsored, the same shall bear an affix to the title, indicating the joint participation of the Council, together with the organization carrying on the research.

c) The organization conducting the research shall have some additional relation with Council.

- b) If the Council decides not to publish any or all of the results of any particular research, the organization carrying on the same shall be entitled after one month's waiting period, to publish the entire research on its own responsibility, and under its own name.

III. After the completion of any research or investigation and before decision has been reached as to publication in whole or in part, there shall be a conference between the Research Committee of the Council, and the organization carrying on the research; at which time the details of the results and final conclusions shall be discussed, and the subject of publication be determined.
