Their active participation in the peer review meeting, the speed with which they reviewed all drafts, and their commitment and dedication to the task of disseminating information and guidance for the control of exposure to airborne asbestos are greatly appreciated.

Other contributors participated at various stages in the report preparation. In particular, we wish to thank Project Officers Joseph Carra and Frederick Kutz (Office of Toxic Substances, Exposure Evaluation Division), Suzanne Rudzinski (Office of Toxic Substances, Chemical Control Division), John Lerohl (Office of Toxic Substances, Chemical Control Division), and Donald Lentzen (Research Triangle Institute).

Special appreciation is extended to Ms. Terri Stiteler of Battelle who assisted in analyzing and incorporating comments of the review groups, organizing review group sessions, and directing the preparation and distribution of drafts and the final document.

The Dynamac Corporation is also acknowledged for its role in organizing the peer review meeting, as well as other support staff at EPA and at Battelle for contributing to the successful completion of the project.
