Dear Dr. Kehoe:

Thank you for your kind letter of
June 10.

I do not know where you got the impression that I might have been disappointed with your paper in Pittsburgh; the contrary is the case. Any disappointment I had was that the previous speakers monopolized part of your time and that the program as originally scheduled was not carried through.

I was thoroughly absorbed, as usual, in your account of the recent investigations you conducted in Cincinnati on small amounts of lead and I am looking forward to a receipt of your completed study when it appears in the Journal of Industrial Hygiene and Toxicology. I tried to look you up after the morning session was over but you weren't at the luncheon and I must have missed you in the shuffle. That afternoon I had a few business visits to make in Pittsburgh and did not have a chance to express personally my appreciation of your appearance on the program and again talking to you about our common problems in lead.

I hope I shall be in Cincinnati before long, or better yet if you are in New York, I do hope you will drop in and call, so we may meet.

With every good wish,

Sincerely yours,

Felix Edgar Wormser
