Hello,

You're invited to attend a VIP launch event for Starship's Eighth Flight Test, which is targeting launch no earlier than Wednesday, February 26th at 4:00pm CT from Starbase in Texas.

An agenda of activities is attached. Please RSVP here to attend.

As you may have noticed on the agenda, this test flight will be an afternoon launch, however we still recommend that you arrive the night before and stay in South Padre Island. As always, make sure your travel arrangements are flexible and refundable should the launch date change. As with any test, there is a chance we don't launch on the first attempt and will need a few days to recycle, so we appreciate your understanding if you decide to join us and there is a delay.

For more information about the flight, follow us on X.com/SpaceX for updates

Thanks,
SpaceX Events Team

Please note, launch date information is confidential and not publicly available and only shared with you as our VIP guest. This invitation is non-transferable.

Hello,

The launch of Starship's Eighth Flight Test is now targeting no earlier than Friday, February 28th at 5:30pm CT. Launch Day activities are scheduled to begin on the afternoon of launch, but we recommend arriving in town by Thursday night.

Due to this push, we have reset previous RSVPs and are asking that you re-RSVP here by 5pm CT on Wednesday, February 26th.

Please see the updated agenda attached. Any additional updates for this launch will be shared via email.

Thank you,
