wouldn't you?

A Possibly.

Q So if Owens-Corning Fiberglas, in its documents, showed that they knew more than what was in the medical and scientific literature, the state-of-the-art, as you described it, wouldn't have any relevance to that particular issue, would it, Doctor?

A If that is true, it might have less relevance.

MR. IGNATOWSKI: Your Honor, I just want to look through some things and move on pretty quickly. Just give me a moment.

(Whereupon, pause.)

BY MR. IGNATOWSKI:

Q Doctor, I asked you questions about the Dreessen report, that was the one in 1938, correct?

A Yes.

Q In Dreessen they found a number of individuals who developed the disease below the five million particles per cubic foot, did they not?
