EXHIBIT 1

PCB LITIGATION

Inter-County Farmers Cooperative Assn. Inc., Plaintiff v. Rozansky Feed Company, Inc. Defendant and 3rd Party Plaintiff vs. Monsanto Company, 3rd Party Defendant Third party plaintiff demands judgment dismissing complaint with costs, or in the event plaintiff recovers any award, demands judgment over and against third-party defendant in the amount of the recovery. Bakery products - chicken feed contamination. New York.

Holly Farms Poultry Industries, Inc., v. Wilbur-Ellis Company, et al. (including Monsanto Company) Service of Summons: November 5, 1971. Seeks recovery from Monsanto Company of $6,000,000 actual and $50,000,000 punitive damages alleging purchase of Peruvian fish meal contaminated with polychlorinated biphenyl furnished by Monsanto. North Carolina.

Silo - milk contamination. Ohio:

Kenneth Baldwin v. Michigan Silo Co., Inc. and Monsanto Company Summons served November 17, 1971. Losses allegedly incurred as a result of the use of Aroclor in a coating applied to the interior of plaintiff's silo. Relief requested: $150,000 plus costs.

Schwarzwalder v. Michigan Silo & Monsanto Service of Summons: August 3, 1970. Losses allegedly incurred as a result of the use of Aroclor in a coating applied to the interior of plaintiff's silo. Status: Very little activity. Not yet set for trial.

Humphrey (Franklin & Marilyn) v. Michigan Silo & Monsanto Service of Summons: July 15, 1970. Losses allegedly incurred as a result of the use of Aroclor in a coating applied to the interior of plaintiff's silo. Status: 10/22/71 - Tentatively expected to come to trial in early 1972. Plaintiff's attorney has taken interrogatories of Michigan Silo.

Dillman v. Concrete Silo and Monsanto Complaint filed by Dillman asking for damages as a result of PCB contamination - $125,000 plus costs. Complaint dated November 2, 1971.

EX P-2848
Page 1 of 2
0520385

PCB-ARCH0751487

PCB CLAIMS

Bloomfield Silo Company. On September 8, 1971 a Sales Representative of Hoosier Solvents & Chemicals Corporation contacted Monsanto representative in Akron. A customer of Hoosier, Bloomfield Silo Company, called to report that Hoosier's silo paint had caused some milk contamination in Kentucky. The Kentucky Board of Health has indicated that the contamination was caused by the Aroclor content in the paint.

Dickerhoff v. Michigan Silo. On July 27, 1970 an attorney for Glenn Dickerhoff wrote to the installer of Michigan Silo threatening suit against James Weibe, owner of Michigan Silo, Michigan Silo Company and Monsanto, because Monsanto produces Cumar, which contains Aroclor. Correspondence to attorney by Monsanto indicates that Monsanto does not produce Cumar but does make Aroclor 1254, which is used in making Cumar. Monsanto requests permission to investigate silo.

Baumgartner v. Concrete Silo & Monsanto. In 1965 Concrete Silo Company erected a silo for Baumgartner and it was coated with a product containing Aroclor. The States of Ohio and Kentucky have banned his sale of milk for human consumption. Monsanto wrote letters on September 22, 1970 and November 2, 1970 to Baumgartner's attorney indicating that Monsanto does not produce paint and offers to investigate silos.

Patterson, R. M. v. Monsanto. Silos coated with Aroclor 1254 in 1962 and 1963. Attorney indicates that in similar situations milk has been contaminated. We answered August 12, 1971 over Rehfeld's signature that Mr. Patterson has not indicated that he was threatened with any losses.

Austin, Ernest v. Monsanto. Mr. Austin advises that he is under constant threat of being cut off from selling his milk, because of PCB. Silo Company no longer in business. The Travelers Insurance Company advises that the silo company's insurance company should be contacted and Monsanto should consider withholding contact. On November 3, 1971 C. B. Holleran wrote to Travelers Insurance Company with instructions not to respond.

Monteagle Silo Company. On July 26, 1971 correspondence of possible product liability suit for damages to silo manufacturer and his dairy farmer customers. On August 2, 1971 Monsanto wrote Monteagle's attorney indicating that our records do not reveal any sale of Aroclor 1254 to Monteagle.

PCB-ARCH0751488