I don't mean to yell at you because we are pretty close here, but I want the jury to be able to hear me.

Am I correct from what I heard earlier that when you were in college and doing your graduate work, you really didn't concentrate on asbestos?

A Of course not.

Q Okay. So the first time that you really started working in the field of asbestos research was when you were at the University of Vermont; is that correct?

A That is correct.

Q Okay. Were you in the pathology department at the University of Vermont?

A Right.

Q Okay. Who was the chairman of the pathology department when you got there?

A Dr. John Craighead.

Q Okay. I believe you also told the jury that you are not a medical doctor, nor are you an epidemiologist?
