

[REDACTED]

PHOTO DU JOUR: The May 29 cover of TIME Magazine, which features the Kremlin merging with the White House.

COMING ATTRACTIONS -- "5 things to watch in Trump's financial disclosures," by Darren Samuelsohn: <http://politi.co/2qUTi4g>

SNEAK PEEK -- at the new Bloomberg Businessweek cover: "If America were a company would you keep this CEO?" by Bloomberg Editor in Chief John Micklethwait.

<http://bit.ly/2rhRnqk> ... The story <https://bloom.bg/2pWLwml>

FOR YOUR RADAR -- "Trump administration to send NAFTA notification letter

Thursday," by Adam Behsudi, Megan Cassella and Doug Palmer: "The Trump administration is expected to send to Congress on Thursday morning a final letter notifying lawmakers that it intends to open trade talks with Canada and Mexico in an attempt to renegotiate NAFTA, according to an administration official and congressional aides. ... Sending the letter triggers a 90-day consultation period that must conclude before negotiations can officially begin -- a process set out under the 2015 Trade Promotion Authority legislation that gives the White House the ability to fast-track passage of the deal in Congress. The 90-day period would end Aug. 16."

<http://politi.co/2qzST4i>

KEVIN MCCARTHY PROFILE -- "Trump's Man in Congress: Few on Capitol Hill are closer to the president than Kevin McCarthy," by Laurel Rosenhall in California

Sunday Magazine: <http://bit.ly/2rtRnzV>

* A message from JPMorgan Chase & Co.: In order to create more opportunities for Detroiters to secure well-paying jobs, JPMorgan Chase worked to boost the city's workforce readiness, and today, there are clear signs of progress. Nearly 15,000 Detroiters, young people and adults, have participated in job skills training programs and received career and technical education. Learn more about the impact of retooling Detroit's workforce: <http://politi.co/2raEMLX> *****

THE RESISTANCE -- "Jolted by Trump, Orange County Democrats see a shot at victory on GOP turf," by L.A. Times' Sarah Wire: "Catherine Nadeau was never a supporter of Rep. Dana Rohrabacher, but as a resident of historically conservative Orange County she had never bothered to get involved in local politics either. Donald Trump's surprise presidential win changed that. ... Nadeau is among the newly energized residents giving Democrats hope they can claim at least some of the congressional seats in Orange County that have been red for a generation.

"Despite the vocal optimism from activists and local dissatisfaction with Trump, it will be an uphill battle for Democrats to flip the four heavily Republican congressional districts in Orange County, all but one of which the incumbent won in 2016 by double digits. More than a dozen resistance groups have formed in Orange County since the presidential election. They've demanded meetings with the four Republican members of Congress, and staged town halls in their name when the members decline. They've delivered petitions and Valentines and even protested outside the members' homes. Most Tuesdays, at least a few dozen people show up with signs outside district offices (some of which they've been told they can no longer enter)." <http://lat.ms/2pWJqTo>

THE FAMILY -- "Ivanka Trump Criticized Over Chinese Factories Allegedly Paying $1 an Hour," by Bloomberg's Stephanie Hoi-Nga Wong: "Ivanka Trump's apparel brand is facing criticism from a labor-rights group for relying on Chinese factories that it says force some employees to work long shifts at the equivalent of about a dollar an hour. The nonprofit organization China Labor Watch said it investigated two Chinese factories that produce goods for Ivanka Trump's brand. It then shared its findings in a letter sent to the first daughter, saying employees are forced to work at least 12 1/2 hours a day and at least six days a week -- at a monthly salary of about 2,500 yuan ($363)." <https://bloom.bg/2quGCQh>

MEDIAWATCH -- "MSNBC To Pair Stephanie Ruhle, Ali Velshi On New Business Show," by Forbes' Mark Joyella: "Ruhle and Velshi will get to escape the frantic news cycle and talk about those big issues in a new show, Velshi & Ruhle, which MSNBC will formally announce ahead of the show's debut Saturday." <http://bit.ly/2pZw8EN>

PLAYBOOK ERS

SPOTTED: Jose Diaz-Balart sipping a beer yesterday in the lobby of the W Hotel.

TRANSITIONS - Andrew King is joining Glover Park Group's government relations practice as a managing director. He worked for two decades for Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-S.C.), most recently as his deputy chief of staff. <http://politi.co/2rtN4V6>

OUT AND ABOUT -- Marissa Mitrovich -- on behalf of Capitol File Magazine and in