Dear Dr. Kelsoe,

Living in a small town is no fun and staying ahead of the game means constant study and experimenting.

Fortunately we had the Dr. Salisbury lab.
here ~~where~~ where I am able to do a little experimenting.

Being a smoker I am interested in Ca of lungs and I am trying to find some chemical which might lead me to some results.

Did you know that Mexico has fewer Ca of lungs, fewer sleets than we have.
One of the things they don't have in Mexico City is Tetraethyl lead - this might all be following a wrong track but its fine to experiment -

Wishing you a happy New Year I am yours
sincerely
