Dear Doctor Burdick:

I have been informed by our Cleveland office that the Midland-Ross Corporation is sending you a patient who has a dermatitis. As I understand it, this employee is exposed to cutting oils as well as to Pydraul F-9 and perhaps other chemicals.

I do not know what the exposure to Pydraul F-9 would be unless it would be that occasion by filling a hydraulic system or changing dies.

Pydraul F-9 is not a primary skin irritant nor a sensitizer. We have patch tested it at full strength according to the Schwartz technique on 100 volunteers. There were no positive reactions. Toxicity data are listed on page 18 of the enclosed bulletin. If you have any further questions, please write me directly.

Very truly yours,

R. Emmet Kelly, M. D.
Medical Director
