'Cause in Which I Believe'
Last Letter From a Marine

ARVADA, Colo — (UPI) — Their marine son died last March in Vietnam, but Mr. and Mrs Lloyd Parsons received his last letter only a few days ago

The letter was tucked in a Bible that was included in personal possessions which Douglas B Parsons' buddies mailed home from Vietnam

Among the personal items was a Purple Heart which Parsons had won The 21-year-old marine had never mentioned it to his parents

The letter said

"Dear Mom and Dad,

"This will be my last letter It will be delivered to you in case of my death

"Believe me, this is an extremely hard letter to write. But I must face reality. I want you please to remember two things. I hope they will both help and comfort you.

"First, I died for a cause in which I fully believe — in a fashion that goes with the Parsons name

"Second, when I die, I fully believe that my soul will go to Heaven I believe in God and I believe He takes care of his loved ones So you know that I am really all right and I will see you both some day

"I want you to know that I love you all very much You are the most wonderful family that anyone can ever ask for, and I thank God that I was so fortunate.

Please don't let this create a bitter feeling in your hearts — for the service or for the war. I guess it is something that will have to be done and men will have to do it.

"I know the blow will be terrible, but I am praying that God will give you the strength to face the fact and He will console you

"I love you all so much,"

"Doug"

Doctors Warn About Hazard at Building

By AL DIEFFENBACH
Medical Editor, The Times

Construction of the Seattle First National Bank's 50 story building in downtown Seattle has created a serious health hazard, several Seattle doctors have contended.

No, it isn't that the building is going to fall down, but that asbestos fibers have been allowed to blow into the air while wall-insulation was being applied.

Specialists in air pollution control and environmental health work, however, say the amount of asbestos fiber in the air is within allowable limits and that there is no health hazard.

ONE OF THE doctors, a surgeon, said that the insulating material now has been ordered covered as soon as it has been blown between the walls of the building.

Earlier, he said, the insulating material had been left exposed to the wind over a span of six to eight floors at a time.

"The stuff is all over the downtown area It will be around for months or years for people to breath into their lungs," he said

The surgeon said recent studies have shown that asbestos fibers in the lungs and air passages increases the chances of respiratory illnesses, including cancer.

"THIS STUFF is not like pulp mill gases that might be breathed but are dissipated. Asbestos fibers are not easily destroyed, nor do they decompose easily" he said.

"God knows I've seen enough cases to know what I'm talking about," the surgeon added

On the other hand, the environmental health people point out that a "safe, allowable limit" of 5,000,000 particles of asbestos fiber per cubic foot of air has been adopted by the Public Health Service as the standard

THIS INSULATING material, actually, contains only about 10 per cent asbestos fiber. The rest is mineral wool, which apparently does not cause illnesses such as asbestosis," one said.

He said that while asbestos applicators have been found to have more lung cancer than the general population, the asbestos workers were mostly cigaret smokers as well.

"As far as I'm concerned, there can't be any problem to the public in this situation downtown," he said.

Questioning the scientific basis, "if any," for the 5,000,000-particle allowable standard, the surgeon retorted, "I don't care if it is 5,000,000 or 500 particles. Asbestos fiber is a health hazard and we shouldn't have to breathe any of it."
