Subject: Methylene Chloride

Our close friends, [Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP)], lost their son [Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP)] at age 31 to toxic inhalation of Methylene Chloride in a product (GooF Off) which he was using to strip the floors of his start up business. His autopsy has proven that this was the cause of his death. He was wearing an approved respirator mask and all of the coverings that the product instructions indicated.

This was a totally preventable death. I would like your help in keeping our loved ones from potentially suffering the same fate, just by using a product that is readily available at Lowes, Home Depot and other hardware stores throughout our country. The EPA has delayed indefinitely acting on a ban of Methylene Chloride, despite the fact that it is banned for use by the US Military and the European Union since 2013. This product should be banned immediately, before more people die unnecessarily.

We have floors that have been cured with a substance that many states have banned. We had difficulty breathing when we had to have part of it repaired. I suffered headaches and had some numbness in my arms. The more your agency discovers about all these products, the scarier it gets. Please give this very serious attention. You might be saving your children or your grandchildren.
