Dear Mr. Teare:

Your letter of February 2, 1981 addressed to Johns-Manville Corporation, Asbestos-Cement Board Division has been directed to my attention for appropriate response.

After consultation with experts in the area, I have been advised that there are two types of such board manufactured by Johns-Manville which fits your general description: Type V and Type F. I attach hereto documents printed by Johns-Manville with respect to our Flexboard product.

I would suggest that you have your client review ASTM C-220 Specification which I am advised should provide you all of the necessary technical information that you need beyond that attached hereto.

Yours very truly,

Francis F. Kethcart
