Right. It's a weird situation. I just need to talk through legal defensibility of something our transition team promised in seemingly a knee jerk way. It's been really strange. These guys have been so self interested that they promise whatever to whomever but when it came to working with Pruitt on his agenda they were intransigent bureaucrats. I've finally rid the place of that nonsense and finding their aftermath in a few remaining places.

On my agenda to talk with the Administrator about would be what I published today in the WSJ (<https://www.wsj.com/articles/a-red-team-exercise-would-strengthen-climate-science-1492728579>); annotated copy attached.

Appreciate your guidance as to whether this would be of interest, and well as what other aspects of climate/energy I might usefully address.

Steve, the Administrator remains very excited about conducting this exercise. He had bounced this and other ideas off others he has worked with for some time and others in the Administration. We would like to proceed further with the red-blue exercise. Although I do not yet have an AA for ORD, I will have a Deputy AA for ORD starting in mid-June. He will have a few initial duties, but helping start this process will be one of them. I would also like staff in ORD to help on this to get the cooperation of both political and career on this project.

We have determined that the best way to process your paperwork is to compensate you as an “administratively determined” position which is unique in the federal hiring process to EPA. There is no vetting other than OPM paperwork which allows us to have you on the payroll in short order.

I would like to discuss with you how go about next steps when convenient. Thanks again for your help with this. We are looking forward to it.

Ryan.

Ryan:

Much enjoyed meeting with you and the Administrator last Friday.

As promised, I attach a prospectus for a Climate Science Red-Blue Exercise. As I've watched the media since our meeting, I've become even more convinced that this would be a very good thing to do.

Many of the design choices are deliberate, but perhaps their rationale isn't evident. Would be happy to discuss further – this is only a first draft.

I think it was a case of our member company staffer being relatively new to DC and totally misunderstanding a conversation, since the entire thing sounded totally ludicrous to me. That happens all too often here.

I thought that was a silly rumor, but one of our member company people insisted she had heard it directly from an EPA staffer. So, I needed to run it to ground. Clearly a misunderstanding.
