

centrated on one side of the house.

The Spanish house shown here is made of pink or white stucco on a frame structure, the roof is slate of some varied colors. Such a house, with its rooms all large and well connected, should fit well in almost any climate or neighborhood.

There are six rooms, bath, garage, plenty of closet room and cross-current ventilation. The cost is small and only a regular sized lot is required. The house contains 20,000 cubic feet and is $35 feet by 53 feet.

For additional information and cost estimate, write to Mrs. Cora W. Wilson, 420 Madison Avenue, New York City, and be sure to enclose the clipping from this newspaper.

ELIZABETH, N. J., April 4 (U)—Hail the lowly pedestrian, high mogul of the highway crossing! He presses a button on a post at Lincoln highway and on goes a red light to hold back auto traffic while he crosses. It stays red just long enough for the crossing and then it automatically flashes green again.

SEEKING DANGER

LONDON.—Thousands of red circulars being received in Great Britain are being banned by postal authorities. The reason is not because of Soviet propaganda, supposed to be contained in the circulars, but because the color tends to ruin the eyes of postal employees. The sorting of a large number of these circulars would cause eye strain, it is said.
