Product Known Long Ago

Casein paints, produced commercially on a considerable scale in this country only in the last two decades, were among the early discoveries of man. In the middle ages it is said to have been the most common coating for interiors, having been used in many famous European cathedrals. In many of these cathedrals the original casein-painted surface is reported in good condition today.

NEGLECT UNECONOMICAL

There is no economy in allowing the mechanical equipment in buildings to go to pieces through neglect or lack of repair parts during the present period of emergency, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries bureau.
