To Members of the Lead Industries Association, Inc.:

HYGIENIC GUIDE SERIES--TETRAETHYLLEAD

The American Industrial Hygiene Association publishes, in its Hygienic Guide Series, four or five page outlines covering toxicological and other hazards for many materials. They have just published a guide for tetraethyllead which provides a short and clear summary of its hazard potential and suggestions for controlling this hazard. We feel that those of our members who have occasion to be questioned about the toxicity of this material would be interested in having a copy of the guide.

Copies may be obtained from the American Industrial Hygiene Association, 14125 Prevoost, Detroit 27, Michigan, for $.25 a copy.

We have obtained a number of copies of this particular guide for distribution and we will be pleased to send you a single copy upon request.
