Dear 5.1.2e

While looking at the programme of the next Chemical Watch PFAS - Updates 2021 conference, I noticed that your intervention includes a topic entitled "Next steps, especially next consultation round (mid July till mid September)". Based on some of our previous discussions, I was under the impression that the PFAS Restriction process did not foresee any further consultation. My understanding was that we could expect an RMOA and the RoI to be published mid-July, but neither of them would lead to a public consultation, did I misunderstand something, and if so, could you let me know what the background of the next consultation will be?

Many thanks, and best regards.
