Henry Orvall, who started his career in Pacific Grove and is now an outstanding figure in the field of modern and experimental music will give a series of three recitals in Carmel on Saturday evenings May 14, 21 and 28, at the Denny-Watrous gallery.

The first lecture will be on Quarter-tones Music. The talk will be illustrated by quarter-tone instruments and some music written for two pianos tuned a quarter tone apart. "Komadic" was written by Mildred Couper of Santa Barbara, who comes to Carmel for the occasion to play one piano in Komadic. Thibaut, sister of Berta Barbara, plays the other. This will be the second quarter-tone recital on the western coast.

The second of the series will present Mr. Orvall's results of research into primitive music under the Guggenheim Foundation. He will discuss and illustrate the music of African Pygmies, of South Sea Islanders, the American Indians and other primitive peoples.

The third lecture features Cowell's new instrument, the Rhythmicon, which will be explained and illustrated. There are but two "Rhythmicons" in the United States at the one that is coming to Carmel, loaned by its owner Nicolas Slonimsky of the Chamber Music Orchestra of Boston, and the professor-writer-colonge to the New School for Social Research in New York.
