Q. What's your reaction to the NCI study (published in the April 21 Federal Register) that showed PCB did not cause cancer in rats?

A. We're pleased with these recent findings that PCBs are not carcinogens. This study supports preliminary Monsanto studies among PCB production workers that showed PCBs are not cancer causing. Monsanto's preliminary studies analyzed medical records of over 300 workers at PCB production units and were announced in September 1976.
