

September 22, 1942.

Mr. L. B. F. Raycroft,
Public and Industrial Relations,
The Electric Storage Battery Company,
Allegheny Avenue and 19th Street,
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mr. Raycroft:

I imagine you have been swamped with work and have had no time to reply to my letter of May 28, in which I enclosed tentative copies of a questionnaire and asked for your opinion thereon. I wonder if I could bother you for a reply at this time. Furthermore, if you want me to go ahead on this without any further collaboration with you, please let me know.

You will probably think that this is a fine time to bring this matter up. The fact is, however, that I have been swamped with other work, most of which was quite urgent, and even if I had had a reply from you sooner, I should have been unable to do anything about it. I hope now that I can take this subject up without further delay, unless the time is already past for doing it. I shall appreciate any advice that you can give me.

Sincerely yours,

Robert A. Kehoe, M. D.

RAK ef