Something New for smaller homes

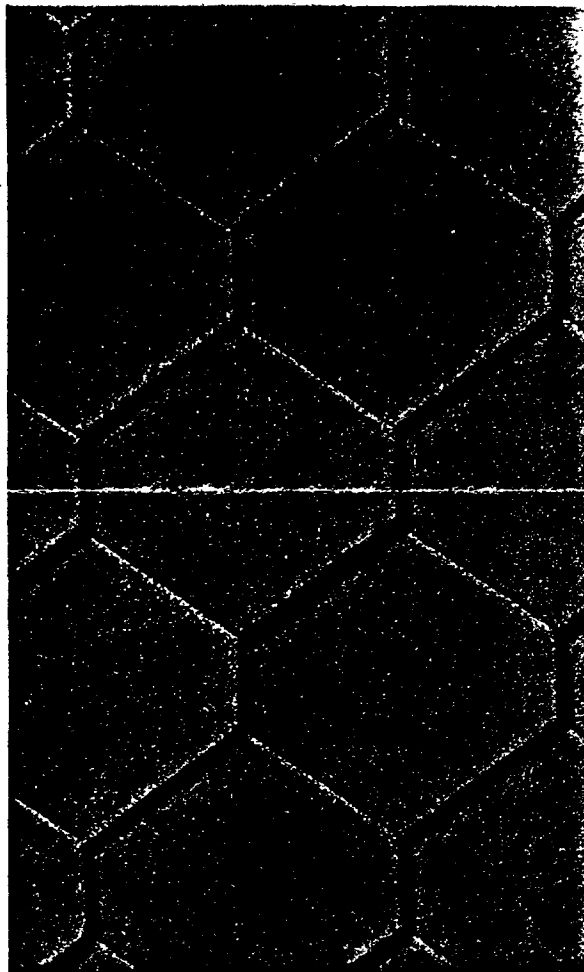

The smaller house naturally has a smaller roof exposed to view.

So here's a new shingle, designed expressly to present a pattern that's right in size and shape for smaller roof areas.

The symmetrical pattern of 3-Tab Hexagons is beautifully proportioned for bungalows and cottages . . . eliminates that top-heavy appearance common to smaller roofs where old-style, large-unit roof coverings have been applied.

It's a safer shingle, too. The streamlined design provides greater wind resistance . . . water flows away from joints.

3-Tab Hexagons are economical. They're styled for economy in coverage, less waste on the job . . . and they are available in a wide range of beautiful blends and solid colours.
