American Brakeblok

Why has American Brakeblok been the choice of these leading bus operators for so many years? These experts know brake lining and they know American Brakeblok costs less per mile . . . performs better . . . because it's made better.

American Brakeblok truck lining and thick blocks are manufactured under the most exacting quality control standards in the industry; from compounding to packaging, the product is subjected to every type of test possible to insure the same UNIFORM product quality every time. And this UNIFORMITY is the key to lower brake service costs.

Next time you reline brakes, ask your nearby NAPA Jobber for American Brakeblok. He can furnish your requirements right from his stock.
