

of our lives. The mortality from car & motor-bike accidents here in Victoria between the ages of 18 and 25 is, I think, higher than for many diseases in the ordinary course of events.

But here as far as the authorities do not seem to be worried with regard to road pollution from vehicle emissions, but I should think that they will follow what is being done overseas in Europe & America in regard to some reduction in the lead content of petrol. I believe that in Britain & Europe there is a reduction of about 0.2 G of Pb per litre - (roughly 2 5/16) and so, in due course, this will follow here.

You certainly sound a bit dubious when you talk of your election of President Nixon and of the present political situation in U.S.A. And England (or should I say Britain) is also having a pretty rough time & in Australia, our recent elections have given us a Labor Government for the first time in over 20 years. The Liberal Government lacked a good leader and did not seem to know just where it was going. Under a Labor Government with a certain left-wing element trying to make its weight felt we are almost certainly going to have a period of inflation at a much faster rate than we have had so far. We do have

Dear T. M. M.,

I was delighted to hear from you from Green St., but you did not state what city you were in after your trip to New Orleans, tho' I expect it was probably your old favourite, San Francisco. However I thought it would be safer to wait a couple of weeks and write to Cincinnati to get you soon after you got home. It is great that you are fit enough to go "hither + yon" and you sound as if you are really fit. I do hope you are not overdoing things. You certainly don't want to get overtired, but I've no doubt Bruce will see to that.

It must have given you a lot of satisfaction to be at the 25th Anniversary of the Meetings of The American Academy of Occupational Medicine and to look back over its progress since you played an important part in getting it started and also of helping its growth over the years. The ~~two~~ two months break in the good winter climate must have been very good for you both.

I was very sorry to hear about Pat Barry's accident in his car. I had not heard about it previously. He really must have had a remarkable escape to get off with relatively minor injuries after his car was so crushed by a bus that he had to be cut out of it. There's no doubt that the roads are among the most dangerous places for us to be on in the ordinary course

But here so far the authorities do not seem to be doing much to lead pollution from vehicle emissions, but I think they will follow what is being done overseas in Europe. In Britain + Europe there is a reduction of about 10% (roughly 25%) and so, in due course, this will be reflected here.

You certainly sound a bit depressing when you talk of President Nixon and of the general political situation in the world. England (or should I say Britain) is also having a bit of a problem.
