Greetings,

I don't mean to be a pest but I wanted to make sure you received my email below. We're having some trouble reaching the appropriate people and I was wondering if you might steer us in the right direction. I don't believe the issue is controversial or even particularly complex; industry is just looking for guidance on implementation. We'd be delighted to make experts available to the right individuals to further discuss if that is helpful/appropriate. Any assistance you could provide in getting this correspondence into the right hands would be very much appreciated!

And as an aside, let me know when you're not crazy hectic so we can grab a drink and catch up on all things work and non-work related!

Miss you!

Jenny

Hi Sam,

First, congrats on the new position!

Per our brief conversation this morning, our client is a member of one of the organizations represented in the attached letter. They are concerned about some of the unintended consequences implementation of the Rule mentioned in the letter and promulgated by the previous Administration will have on their industry. Erik Winchester and Wendy Cleland-Hamnett have received copies of this letter but I wanted to flag for you as well. If you have any questions or need additional information we'd be happy to provide.

Thanks again! Let's catch up soon.

~Jenny Kaufmann
