insulate the higher temperatures, so they asked Owens-Illinois, can we sell this so we can get more jobs?

We are not ashamed of that. We wanted to get more business, so we asked them, but before we asked them, we said, is there any problem with this product? And they told us no, no problem with it, it is fine.

In fact, they showed you some documents earlier, and if this happens throughout the whole trial, I am going to stand up and I am going to show you, because the same place they got those documents, there is other documents, too, that they probably won't show you.

In all due respect to them, they are going to put me in the worst possible light.

Just one moment.

Here are some of the responses we got when we asked about this Kaylo.

Like I told you, this Kaylo was something different. It was hard, baked like a ceramic product.
