Hey folks,

We have heard that the Texas A&M Transportation Institute's Tier 1 University Transportation Center is under review and may be eliminated by DOT as soon as this week. As all current UTCs, TTI competed to lead this Tier 1 center under the last administration, and as such, comported with their priorities. However, TTI has proactively worked to revamp the center with a new name and program focus. In fact, the new approach in the attached document was developed in conjunction with DOT to ensure alignment with this Administration and Secretary Duffy's priorities and directives.

Can you give me an update on this? We would like to support our University.

Best,

Courtney Young
