OUR REF. HF:DOB.

YOUR REF.

August 4th, 1939.

Dr. R.A. Kehoe,
Department of Applied Physiology,
College of Medicine,
University of Cincinnati,
CINCINNATI. Ohio.

Dear Dr. Kehoe,

The D.A.P.G. have raised with us several features upon which they require some advice. These will be found in a copy of their letter which I am enclosing herewith, together with a copy of my reply. I would naturally appreciate any observations, particularly on items Nos. 1, 3 and 4, which you may wish to make.

With regard to item No.1., the reference to special gasoline implies special solvents which are used in various industrial applications. I think the point they have particularly in mind is the use of tank cars for transporting these solvents which might eventually be used for the extraction of food stuffs, or cattle food, etc.

Yours very truly,

H. FOSSETT.
