

(Drislane - Purcell)

1 about the approximate volume of documents and phone calls
2 placed by the Institute?

3 A Yes.

4 Q Did that continue in that approximate amount 5 during any point in time when you served as secretary or 6 executive director, recognizing that I'm sure the personal 7 phone calls were reduced substantially.

8 A Without a phone it was completely changed when I 9 came in.

10 Q Can you tell me what you mean?

11 A She used to send a letter out, anytime that 12 somebody requested a print. I set up an invoice system where 13 basically no charge if a member asked for a print, we just 14 made up an invoice and sent it out with no letter. Cut out 15 all the letter junk. Telephone calls, telephone calls were 16 primarily personal. It was a shocker when I cut down to one 17 line. And so that was -- she was an honest person and that's 18 the true report of the things. But I didn't send out a 19 letter every time I sent a print out, I sent a stupid little 20 cheap invoice and marked them no charge and just sent it.

21 Q When it says here in these 1965 minutes of the 22 FMSI meeting of prints released as distinguished from 23 correspondence, what would that mean to you in terms of what
