

To: Jackson, Ryan[jackson.ryan@epa.gov]
From: American Enterprise Institute
Sent: Thur 8/17/2017 10:02:17 AM
Subject: AEI Today: Bring Medicare tourism to Puerto Rico. It's win-win.

The federal budget faces a problem: the rising cost of Medicare benefits.

AEI's daily publication of independent research, insightful analysis, and scholarly debate

Reuters

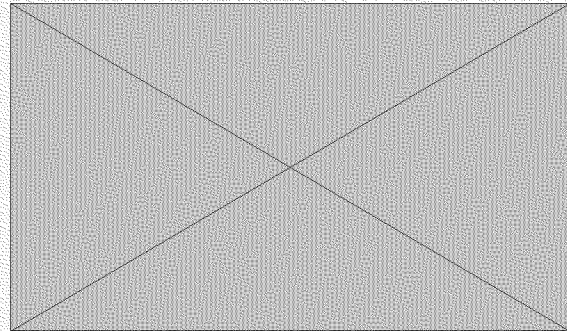

Bring Medicare tourism to Puerto Rico. It's win-win.

Andrew G. Biggs | US News & World Report

The federal budget faces a problem: the rising cost of Medicare benefits. At $10,000 per beneficiary per year, Medicare is one of the largest costs facing the US taxpayer — and it's growing as baby boomers retire and their health expenditures increase. At the same time, the US island of Puerto Rico also faces a problem. Its government is effectively bankrupt, and its economy is contracting. But there's a policy that can help everyone. Not medical tourism, but Medicare tourism.

Full Story

Reuters

The unhappy paradox of America's Santa-statism (2011)

Arthur C. Brooks | The Wall Street Journal

As Congress stares down another debt-ceiling debate in the coming month, we revisit advice AEI President Arthur Brooks offered during the heated 2011 negotiations. "The public can be forgiven for believing that budget-cutting will always be an exercise in futility," he writes. "Politicians respond with [excuses]. . . . The real problem, however, is that cutting almost anything is impossible when what passes for governing philosophy is little more than a bromide."

Full Story

MORE FROM AEI

China's new weapon against India? A racist video

Sadanand Dhume | AEIdeas

In Philadelphia, good intentions prove not enough to reform a school system

Arnold F. Shober | AEIdeas

Report: Local government responses to revenue shocks

Daniel Shoag, Cody Tuttle, and Stan Veuger | AEI Economics Working Paper Series

The underlying philosophy of net neutrality sounds nice — until push comes to shove

Gus Hurwitz | AEIdeas

Perhaps the most powerful defense of market capitalism you will ever read (2015)

James Pethokoukis | AEIdeas

Report: While students struggle, 96 percent of Philadelphia teachers are measured as 'proficient' or better

Arnold F. Shoher | AEI

Apple and Crocs find themselves on the design patent block

Michael Rosen | AEIdeas

Around the web: In the new political status quo, big business bucks the right

Matt Winesett | AEIdeas

AEI cares about your inbox. Want to tailor your AEI subscriptions? Click here and get content that matters to you.

View online | Ensure delivery | Subscribe

American Enterprise Institute

1789 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20036

202.862.5800 | www.aei.org

This message is for: jackson.ryan@epa.gov | Manage preferences | Unsubscribe