Dr. Inui said there are today 19 countries which prohibit entirely or discriminate against people of the Orient from entry or engaging in business enterprises, and 34 countries where goods in which Japan specializes are discriminated against.

"Japan has always stood for equality of economic opportunity, and free movement of goods, investments and populations. If we can't sell our labor, at least we should be permitted to sell our goods," he urged. "Japan can live only by freedom of trade and free access to markets. So I hope a new trade treaty may soon be adopted."

Asked whether the people of Japan regarded abrogation of the treaty as an act of censure for Japan's policies in China, Dr. Inui said this was true, but he declined to be drawn into detailed discussion of political aspects of the matter.

GREET'S OLD FRIENDS

Dr. Inui introduced a pleasant personal note by calling attention to the presence in the audience of some old friends, among them Carmel Martin, Monterey attorney and a classmate of Dr. Inui at the University of Michigan 35 years ago, and Dr. S. W. Wainwright of Oakland, who accompanied the speaker to Monterey.

Dr. Wainwright was principal of the academic department of the Kwansai Kakuin in Kobe from 1890 to 1907 and Dr. Inui was one of his pupils. He described Dr. Wainwright as having come to Kyushu Island with a Bible in one hand and a baseball bat in the other. The bat was too heavy for Japanese to handle, but after making smaller ones they became adept at the game.

Dr. Inui graduated in 1901 and came to this country with Dr. Wainwright, entering University of Michigan.

Dr. Wainwright from 1907 to 1939 was manager of the Chris-geles, Seattle, Santa Barbara, New York, Boston and other cities.

James Tabata, president of Monterey Peninsula chapter of the Japanese-American Citizens league, under whose auspices the event was held, presided at last night's meeting, which was attended by a large and interested audience.

Closing number on the evening's program was an effective rendition of "God Bless America" sung by the J. A. C. L. girls' quartet, composed of Misses Nobuko Higashi, Akiune Maraka, Anita Takigawa and Beth Gota, with Miss Clara Tsuchiyama at the piano.

MAN HELD ON DRIVING CHARGE

A man who identified himself as Jim Morrison, 51, Des Moines, Ia., insurance agent now residing in Carmel, was arrested and charged by Monterey police with driving while intoxicated and striking a parked car.

Morrison was apprehended after his automobile collided with the parked machine of Helen Bachar of Pacific Grove. Damage was slight and no one was injured. Morrison's hearing was set for tomorrow at 10 a.m.

spends an average of $1500 per season for groceries and the fishermen use clothes, boots and oilskins and they are bought locally. There have been about 30 new homes built by fishermen in Monterey and new Monterey with the money earned for 1939-40 season. These homes, will average $4,000 each (very conservative), $120,000 spent on homes. The material for these homes was bought here in Monterey and New Monterey, quite a good deal probably at the Union Supply Co. in New Monte-
