various comments, safety and health issues.

Q. That's another question. Does the library maintain -- or is there a membership list somewhere going back to the inception of the National Safety Council to show who was in and out during the years?

A. Our membership department does have a membership database and they maintain membership records to the best of their ability.

There has been a number of conversions that have been done to the membership database, so I cannot comment on the accuracy of some of the records. But I do not have any of those kinds of lists here in the library.

Q. So just to carry it through, if I wanted to know who were members of the National Safety Council in 1925, just pick a year out of the air, how would I go about doing that?

A. You could make a request to our membership department in writing, find out if they could produce a list of records they currently have that shows companies that were members of the National Safety Council in 1925.

However, I do want to stipulate that they have to be continuous members. If they had dropped being a member anytime during that period and then
