Dear Dr. Kehoe:

Thank you very much for sending me the copies of your papers on air pollution, as well as the printed manuscripts.

I have read these papers with a great deal of interest and return the typewritten copies herewith.

The questions that will probably be before our legislature on air pollution next year will not deal so much with the establishment of regulatory programs as with provision for a more vigorous research effort to measure the physiological effects on animals of the type of smog which is occurring in Los Angeles and some other California cities.

Sincerely yours
