Devises Dagger For Armed Forces

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (J.P.)—A double action dagger for hand-to-hand fighting is Charles Goldberg's gift to our armed forces. Besides the sharp blade, the knife has a handle fitted to the fingers that can be used as "knucks" if the going gets close.

Goldberg, an iron and metal dealer, fashioned two of the knives out of an old sword and had the handles made of scrap aluminum. There are a lot of old swords around, he believes, and all of them should be used to make weapons for our soldiers. He will donate the handles—all he needs is more blades.

Over 9,500 species of butterflies and moths are found in North America.
